Abstract:
This section should detail the problems, experimental approach, major findings and conclusion in one paragraph and should appear on the second page. The abstract should be 100 to 250 words in length..

Keywords:
Author(s) must give 4 to 10 key words which can identify the most important subjects covered by the paper. They must be placed at the end of the abstract.

Introduction:
The introduction should set the tone of the paper by providing a clear statement of the study, the relevant literature on the study subject and the proposed approach or solution

Materials And Methods:
This section should provide a complete overview of the design of the study. Detailed descriptions of materials or participants, comparisons, interventions and types of analysis should be mentioned.

Discussion:
The Discussion should interpret the findings in view of the results obtained in this and in past studies on this topic.

Results:
Results should be presented with clarity and precision.

Acknowledgement (If Any):
References:
(APA Style) References to the literature cited for the manuscript should be numbered in order of appearance in the manuscript and cited in the text with superscript numbers. The reference number should follow the following format.

Tables:
Tables should be kept to a minimum and be designed to be as simple as possible. Tables are to be typed double-spaced throughout, including headings and footnotes. Each table should be on a separate page, numbered consecutively in Arabic numerals and supplied with a heading and a legend. Tables should be self-explanatory without reference to the text. The details of the methods used in the experiments should preferably be described in the legend instead of in the text. The same data should not be presented in both table and graph forms or repeated in the text.

Figures:
Figure legends should be typed in numerical order on a separate sheet. Graphics should be prepared using applications capable of generating high resolution GIF, TIFF, JPEG or PowerPoint before pasting in the Microsoft Word manuscript file. Tables should be prepared in Microsoft Word. Use Arabic numerals to designate figures and upper case letters for their parts (Figure 1). Begin each legend with a title and include sufficient description so that the figure is understandable without reading the text of the manuscript. Information given in legends should not be repeated in the text.

Equations:
All equations should be numbered in order from starting and the notations used in the various equations should be given after abstract. Authors are insisted to follow standard notations and SI units system even though it's not mandatory.

Images:
Images should be supplied without being inserted in tables, borders or any other format, they can be copy pasted in the required space. It will be better if the images are given in the last page, the quality of the image and the size should be proper.

Copy Right:
Authors shall be required to ensure that their papers submitted for publication are not violative of provisions of copyright act, whatsoever, in order to avoid legal complications in future. Strad Research will send the copyright form after accepting the submitted paper. Authors shall be required to transfer the copyright of each publication to Strad Research by signing the copyright form.
